Indiana Manufacturers Association Endorses Senator Borst

Indianapolis – Today, the Indiana Manufacturers Association (IMA) announced their official endorsement of Senator Lawrence M. Borst for reelection to the Indiana Senate. Senator Borst, who served one term in the Indiana House of Representatives before being elected to the Indiana Senate in 1968, is campaigning for reelection in Senate District 36, which includes parts of southern Marion County and northern Johnson County.

“We are extremely pleased to announce our reelection endorsement of Senator Borst,” said Patrick J. Kiely, President of the Indiana Manufacturers Association. “As a former legislator, I understand the vital importance of having representatives at the Statehouse who have the experience and expertise to get the job done. Senator Borst has the knowledge, expertise and experience to benefit not only the constituents in his district, but to serve as a valuable asset for the entire state.”

The endorsement by the Indiana Manufacturers Association is unique. Typically, the IMA does not endorse a candidate during a primary election; but the IMA felt that support for Senator Borst's reelection is critical for the future of Indiana.

“Senator Borst has the expertise to help guide Indiana during these difficult economic times,” added Kiely. “Creating jobs and a better quality of life for all Hoosiers are the goals of the Indiana Manufacturers Association, and Senator Borst is a leader who can move Indiana in the right direction. We urge all voters in Senate District 36 to continue their support of Senator Borst.”

The Indiana Manufacturers Association is Indiana's oldest business association representing more than 1,600 Indiana manufacturers that employ more than 500,000 Hoosier workers.
