Outcome Uncertain; Updates to Follow

The general election has determined who will be members of the legislature as it organizes in two weeks. Well, not quite. The Senate remains exactly the same at a 32-18 Republican majority. The House has two races in question. The District 86 race between Rep. Jim Atterholt (R-Indianapolis) and David Orentlicher (D-Indianapolis), which cost about $750,000, is at something less than 200 votes with Atterholt (an IMA endorsed candidate) in the lead. In Fort Wayne's District 82, there are mixed reports as this is written as to whether Matt Kelty (R) has defeated incumbent Rep. Winfield Moses (D) with the inclusion of absentee ballots. That race had Moses up 57 votes last night.

These races may go to a recount. We await the final count and then expect the litigation, recounting, and fighting to commence.

If Atterholt wins, the House is 50-50. If both Atterholt and Kelty win it is 51-49 Republican. If neither win, the Democrats retain control by 51-49.

IMA endorsed Secretary of State Candidate Todd Rokita and he won. If the House is 50-50, the Republicans would control the organization of the House, due to Rokita's win.

IMA Board Member Elected

IMA Board Member Brooks LaPlante (R-Terre Haute) won a decisive victory Tuesday over the incumbent Rep. Vern Tincher (D-Riley). Mr. LaPlante operates Doughmakers, Inc., in Terre Haute, a family-owned business. He will take his seat in the legislature on Nov. 19 and on the IMA Board in January 2003. Congratulations Brooks LaPlante!

On the following pages are the winners of both the Indiana House and Senate races as we know them at this time. Asterisks denote candidates that were endorsed by the Indiana Manufacturers Political Action Committee.
